Vmp on the "24 Volt" panel: 33 Vmp on two "12 Volt" panels in series: 34.4 What this means in terms of charging a 24 Volt battery with a PWM controller: not much difference. The current the panel produces at its Imp is not necessarily the same as the current the battery charges at once the controller and all the wire is in place. Typically a ...

Re: charging a 24 volt system with a solar panel Welcome to the forum Gene. If I understand you correctly you have a Voltage difference problem: the batteries add up to 24 Volts but the panel is 12. Now whereas this problem can be overcome, the easiest way to do that is to buy another 12 Volt panel and put them in series like the batteries.

This leaves me thinking that it may be a good idea to leave the volt plugged into some solar panels to charge up the car when not in use. OK so nows the technical bit:- I realise that there are various issues that need to be addressed, but for simplicity lets say that I have a 250w 12v panel plugged into an inverter and the inverter's 240v outlet is then plugged into the ...
