Are used batteries enforceable in Brazil?

(Under Brazilian law, customers are theoretically required to return their used batteries to retailers, but this is practically unenforceable.) Per the authors, they broadly seemed to follow best practices around ULAB storage (obviously, selection bias here).

Which Chinese batteries are banned from the Pentagon?

According to sources cited by Bloomberg, the U.S. Congress has prohibited the Pentagon from procuring batteries produced by six Chinese companies, including CATL and BYD. Additionally, the other four battery manufacturers set to be banned are Envision Energy, EVE Energy, Gotion High-Tech, and Hithium Energy Storage Technology.

Why do Brazilian battery manufacturers refuse to buy new batteries?

The biggest is that most major Brazilian battery manufacturers refuse to take orders for new batteries without a guarantee that the buyer will return an equivalent amount of scrap. Manufacturers and importers also offer better pricing and payment terms to distributors who return more scrap.

Who makes lead-acid batteries in Brazil?

IBER quickly represented a large share of the Brazilian lead-acid battery manufacturers -- by 2018, 75% of the lead-acid battery sales in Brazil were from companies represented by IBER (largely an effect of the economic concentration of a few states with ToCs like Sao Paulo), and it represents almost all major manufacturers and importers today. 15

How many ULAB batteries are recycled in Brazil?

And we do know how many ULABs are being formally recycled now -- more than 75% of all batteries sold as of 2022. This represents a major improvement in the country's battery recycling sector. If we assume recycling was sub-50% as per the WEF report, Brazil's policies have eliminated at least half of its informal sector.
